

CREATED COMPLEMENTARY PURPOSE

"...but for the man no helper was found as his complement (Gen. 2:20 HCS). God's created purpose for the wife is to be the complementary help for her husband. The differences between men and women are created differences so that they complement each other to bear fruit to God as one. My wife and I call our marriage the joined anointing. We have found it overcomingly powerful using our created differences in oneness of mission. I call my anointing the bulldozer anointing and hers the finesse anointing. There are things that are best done by a bulldozer and then after the bulldozer has finished its work, in comes my wife with the Belinda touch. The result is anointed and God glorifying. Neither one of us could do the task as well or at all attempting it ourselves, but together as one, overcoming fruitful work for God is done.

Watch out, watch out, watch out when the world (= the not God realm) champions a cause; you are being conned. There is no higher purpose, no more fulfilling purpose for man and woman than fulfilling God's created purpose for each. To encourage men or women to be discontent with God's created purpose for them is to encourage them to a life of personal, marital, and parental ruin...all the time portraying it as good. As I have heard, many spend their whole life pursuing something utterly vain and when they attain it and find out it is not worth having, they spend the rest of the life trying to fool people into thinking it is worth having.

What is worth having is fulfilling God's created purpose for your life, having a Godly marriage, and having a Godly family, living in peace bearing fruit to God.
