

Not Gumming up the Works (Part 2)

There is a higher level than just not gumming up the works. I applied that lesson when our son left for almost a year in Iraq as a JAG officer in the Army. He had volunteered to go to Iraq and was sent to work in a very dangerous area at the time.

I applied the lesson by not only praying and having faith in his protection but also praying and believing that MUCH good would be done. The outcome was just that in many ways, some of which was the clearing out of the terrorists in that area, MANY care boxes sent to the fellow soldiers by people all over the country, and a Bronze Star awarded to our son. We're SO THANKFUL!