

For Your Consideration ...

Why not...

Welcome back the Christian students and teachers to the public schools? Some are at private schools or have been home-schooled. There are definitely Christian students and teachers in the public schools now, but some have left.

Why not...

Offer a welcoming, kind, considerate environment toward Christians so that they can return "home?" "In your face" types of curriculum, actions, or attitudes can be avoided. It may be said that it can't, but it can. Kindness can go a long way.

The benefits:

There are concerns in the public schools over test scores, behavior, funds, and much more. Certainly not all Christians behave well at school and achieve at a high level academically, but some do. What a benefit these students would be in the public schools! What a benefit these teachers would be!

It's possible. Why not?
